Just some light cleaning this week

The team is hard at work getting some updates ready to push next week. For now, enjoy better app continuity with a few important forms, payments, and display fixes.

Bug Fixes

- Emails that used OptOut merge fields (such as the Default Double Opt-in Email in Marketing > Templates) were displaying two unsubscribe links in the email builder and when they were received by a contact. (Known Issue 1925892)
- We noticed for some of our customers, applications continued to autocharge PayPal accounts for orders that had already been cancelled through PayPal. (Known Issue 1948613)
- When clients submitted web forms that were embedded within an iframe they would encounter an error instead of being redirected to the form's thank you page. (Known Issue 1987669)
- For some of our Chrome users, web forms embedded onto a website via a Javascript snippet were not displaying reliably. (Known Issue 1983601)
- Some email links were being routed through a domain which resulted in contacts seeing a privacy message when visiting the links. (Known Issue 1921120)
