

May 2020 Product Recap

Get better control of your Campaign Builder sequence timers, and see timezone consistency in your reports. See what you missed in May.

- Get more use out of your campaigns with options to clear existing field values and set timers to wait for a year or more.
 - Spend less time thinking about the timestamp and more time thinking about the data. All reports display information based on your app's time zone.
 - Put away the conversion charts. Tasks, appointments, and notes display information based on your local time zone.
