

February 16, 2023 | Max Classic

This article applies to:

Bug Fixes

- When an order form was used to create an order and the product label is different than the product name, the ItemName value in the OrderItem table was being set to the value of the order form's product label
 - The credit card expiration date was not being updated in Authorize.NET when the card was updated via an order form
-